

Recipe

An Unbiased Classroom

- Educate yourself about implicit bias.
- Develop meaningful relationships with people from different racial groups.
- Be deliberately egalitarian (and check in with yourself frequently).
- Foster “egalitarian motivation” in your classroom.
- Consider others’ perspectives.
- Practice mindfulness.

Thank you for participating in our workshop!

For copies of Texas Appleseed's slides and presentation materials regarding the "school-to-prison pipeline," visit our website:

www.texasappleseed.org/sxsw

To explore your own biases by taking the official Implicit Association Test, visit the Project Implicit website:

implicit.harvard.edu

To learn more about the origins and effects of racial segregation through the history of one city, see:

www.epi.org/publication/making-ferguson/

To join the discussion about the effects of implicit bias in K-12 educational settings, engage @TexasAppleseed on Twitter and Facebook using the hashtags:

#ImplicitBias
#UnconsciousBias
#TexasAppleseed